When you use a file transfer service such as Mydrive for the first time, you may be required to setup a one-time code. If you are using Windows XP, you can skip the following setup. However, if you are using Windows Vista or Windows 7, you will have to go through the following steps. 1. Click "Create New Account" from the main screen of the Mydrive web site. 2. Enter a desired username, password and security questions. 3. Click "Create Account". The one-time code is then sent to the email address provided by the user. An alternative solution to the Mydrive client software is to download a program called File Transfer. It can transfer files between computers that are running Windows. It does not have any user interface, but you can do basic operations. 3. Download File Transfer from the main screen of the file transfer website. Once it has been downloaded, close the website. 4. Double-click File Transfer in the start menu. 5. Click "Add", "Find the File Transfer or Mydrive account that you wish to use" and "OK". 6. In the main window of File Transfer, click "Connect to a server." 7. For the server, click "Network" and "File Transfer." 8. In the next window, enter the security code for the file transfer you wish to use and click "OK". 9. In the next window, click "Connect." 10. Open a folder on your computer where you would like to download the file. Select the file you would like to download.
